PROGRAMS

Communications

ACORE works to create a better understanding of renewable energy solutions with leaders and the American public through strategic communication programs such as:

American Bar Association/ACORE Teleconference Series (National)
ACORE presents this series of monthly teleconferences addressing renewable energy issues. Teleconferences are held with 300-500 call-in participants, and are also hosted live at law firms in over 25 cities

Renewable Energy Communications & Policy Program (RECAP)
RECAP is planned as a three year initiative to develop and disseminate critical policy and economic analysis on the key issues of energy supply, environmental and climate, economic development and jobs, and national security

Renewable Energy Finance and Investment Network (REFIN) Directory 2008

Designed to assist project developers and entrepreneurs seeking capital as well as investors looking for financing vehicles, this directory contains information on sources of finance for renewable energy and energy efficiency in the US.

Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Partnership (REEEP)

Serving as the North American Secretariat, ACORE works on an international level with REEEP to promote the use of renewable energy worldwide. More about REEEP is available at www.reeep.org.
