

Invitation to Sponsor

The American Council On Renewable Energy (ACORE) invites your organization to sponsor the Renewable Energy Seminar and Teleconference Series. The series of monthly teleconferences is produced in collaboration with the SEER Renewable Energy Resources Committee of the American Bar Association (ABA). The seminars have consistently drawn large audiences and provided participants with timely information regarding legal, policy, finance and business developments in renewable energy and distributed generation.

The national teleconference format for the Series includes an individual telephone call-in option and on-site participation at host law firm locations in 23 major cities around the country.
