

MEMBER ENGAGEMENT

ACORE engages its members through six dynamic platforms.

EVENTS & CONVENINGS

Gathering high profile industry leaders at five major events with significant discounts and benefits for members: REFF-LAC, REFF-Wall Street, RETECH, REFF-West, and Phase II bring members opportunities for speaking, keynote, and co-chair opportunities. Members also have priority at invitation-only forums and convenings.

WEBINARS & WORKSHOPS

Beyond specialized program webinars, members can present their own topics for consideration, creating a unique opportunity for member collaboration and education on new industry topics.

SPECIALIZED PROGRAMS

Our specialized programming allows members to go deeper in three key topic areas. The Biomass Coordinating Council, US-China Partnership, and US-Partnership for Renewable Energy Finance allow members to connect in specific interest categories.

MEMBER RESOURCES

Receive access to full member reports & documents, and discounts for published directories like the Renewable Energy Finance & Investment Network Directory (REFIN). Members can utilize online individual and business-to-business networking tools. Access to our quarterly market reviews, our 50 States Report, educational publications, and the Leadership Council Speakers Bureau are all benefits of ACORE membership.

BRAND POSITIONING

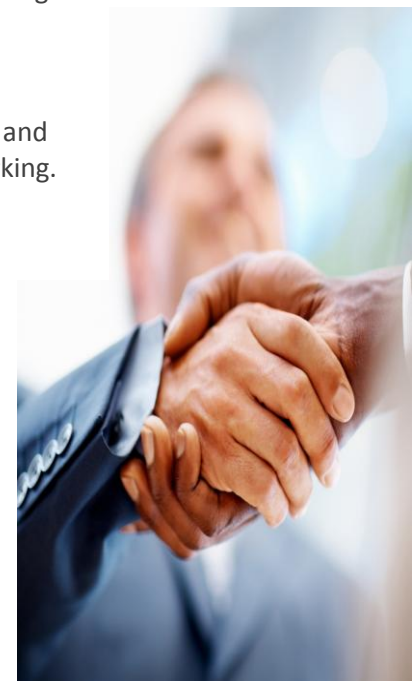

Member of the month profiles, Weekly Member Update features, ACORE website visibility, access to all approved ACORE logos, and hosting opportunities for meetings and workshops.

EXECUTIVE-LEVEL NETWORKING

Members get access to Washington insiders, speaking, hosting, sponsorship, and leadership opportunities, and exclusive executive-level, face to face and business to business networking.

We belong to many resource-specific organizations, but ACORE is the only organization that provides the complete picture on renewable energy without a resource-specific bias. In addition, ACORE's structure allows us to meet, interact with, and learn from members with common interests, but different experiences.
